Your employer determines the reimbursement based on the following fuel models:

- Split fuel: Automatic reimbursement for business use; private charging is billed separately. The reimbursement is paid directly via Northe, with the first payment being made after two months (January's charging sessions are reimbursed at the beginning of March, and so on).
- Main rule: No automatic reimbursement. You need to manually apply for mileage reimbursement.

Do I need to report my mileage?

- Fuel benefit and split fuel: Yes, report your mileage in MyAyvens.
- Main rule: No, you don't need to report your mileage.

4. Charging tags and sessions

What should I do when I receive my charging tag?

1. Your charging tag from Northe is already linked to Ayvens.
2. Hold the tag against the card reader on the charging station to start charging.
3. Plug in the cable to your car. Charging will begin within a few seconds.
4. End the session by holding the tag against the card reader again.

Charging history is automatically sent to Ayvens.

Note: Some stations require the cable to be plugged into the car before starting a session.
